Dave,

VMRC issued the attached request for 'additional information', my first draft of a response is also attached.

Basically, VMRC is running scared because they have gotten 35+ protests on the application. They think they've found a way to dump it back on the City: 'have your Council adopt an ordinance that quiets everybody down and we'll think about approving it then'. It's all about the operation of the site. My response says we're not asking for an operational permit, we're asking for a bulkhead so suck it up and hold the hearing.

Comments, tactics, strategy? Should we bounce off legal to see if there's an opinion as to VMRC's right to take this tack?

Thanks.
